Dear Tim Windmiller,

Thank you for taking the time to discuss your operations and safety concerns with me on August 06, 2024. While insurance is intended to place you in the same financial position as before a loss occurs, a loss can also be costly in terms of lost productivity, goodwill and inconvenience. Our goal as your insurance carrier is to help you protect your most important assets and avoid or reduce these additional costs.

The attached opportunities for improvement identified during our visit are those that could result in serious injury or significant damage to your property, customers, and/or employees if not corrected. A reply form is enclosed for you to indicate the actions you have taken toward completion of these items.

You may return the reply form by e-mail or in the enclosed pre-paid envelope within 45 days of receipt of this letter. I will contact you for any future visits, but in the meantime, you may contact me if you have any questions or would like additional service.

Sincerely,

Charlie Thomas

New Recommendations

2024-08-01 - During our recent Risk Control survey your kitchen hood and duct was overdue for cleaning. This is a significant fire hazard as grease is highly combustible and would add to the available fuel for any potential kitchen fire. A qualified contractor should be hired to clean your kitchen hood and duct every 3 months. Your qualified contractor could reduce or increase the frequency of cleaning depending upon the volume of cooking and generation of grease laden vapors.

2024-08-02 - Ash from the smoker or wood fired pizza oven is not being removed and disposed of properly. To reduce the risk of a fire, ash should be removed daily, placed into a metal container with a lid, and sprayed with water. This is necessary prevent hot ash or embers igniting combustible material that would be found in an ordinary trash receptacle, which in turn be the source of a structure fire. Implement a procedure to empty the ash from your oven or smoker daily into a metal container with a lid. It should also be sprayed with water as it is emptied into the metal container.

2024-08-03 - Rags, aprons, and linens in the kitchen area were being stored in a laundry bag. This is a fire hazard due to the grease laden materials on the rags being a source for spontaneous combustion. Listed or approved containers with self-closing lids should be provided for the storage and disposal of grease-contaminated cloths or waste (NFPA 96 4.9.1). This will prevent spontaneous combustion fires.
